The DC Tax Revision Commission was created in 2011 as part of the fiscal year 2012 budget.

Former DC Council Chairman Kwame Brown selected the Commission’s chair and four additional members. Mayor Vincent Gray chose the other five Commission members. The Chief Financial Officer also designated an ex-officio member for the Commission.

The Commission met first on Aug. 6, 2012, and met last on Dec. 18, 2013. In total, the Commission held 26 public meetings, including three public hearings.
